“North Carolina’s Education Governor,” James B. Hunt, Jr. is nationally recognized for leading the state through two decades of education reform. His early childhood education program, Smart Start, has been a model for the nation and in 2006, he was named one of the ten most influential people in American education.

The Distinguished Speaker Series of the Department of Educational Leadership at UNC Charlotte is designed to serve as a forum for educational stakeholders to address 21st century standards, challenges and best practices in education that influence curriculum and instruction across the public spectrum. Policymakers, educational leaders and teachers are invited to participate as featured guest speakers to share insight and critical perspectives on education, its delivery and impact on student performance.
